Dear Mr. Cox:

I would like to draw your attention to a website I went public with last Friday, the 13th of April, that deals with matters of criminal activity (animal cruelty) in Roscommon County, Michigan:

www.thorswarriors.com.

This website was created and launched solely because of the inaction of certain officials in Roscommon. It is my belief that certain authorities in Roscommon are deliberately trying to cover up this case.

On Thursday, April 12th, I drove 80 miles to meet with Roscommon County Assistant Prosecutor Robert Bennett, to explain my concerns and lay out the facts. I had prepared a 5 page statement, in addition to pictures. I was rebuffed immediately, and was told that the matter 'doesn't belong in Roscommon County.' He also stated that he would 'have nothing more to say on this matter', and wouldn't 'have anything to do with this.'

Mr. Cox, this matter DOES belong in Roscommon County, as you will clearly read on the website. How authorities and officials in this county think they can just make this matter 'go away' is beyond me. One thing Roscommon County can be assured of: I am not going away. I am prepared, equipped, and in the process of taking this matter as far as I have to. In fact, I never imagined I would have to bring this matter to your attention. Nevertheless, I will not let up until justice has been served.

Please take a few minutes to review this site. I have laid the facts out in a very clear, readable format.

I am traveling on business all this week, but I will make myself available via cell phone or e-mail, should you wish to speak with me directly.

Sincerely,

Chris Wright
